LEDGER LINES.

The river is rising slightly once again; in front of this city it is bank full.

Major Freeman, Clerk of the Supreme Court of West Tennessee, is in the city on a visit.

It is announced that on Tuesday evening next the Casino Club concert will be given in Court Square.

Send in your advertisements in time for Monday's LEDGER, the only paper published in the city on that day.

Colonel John C. Lanier died this morning at his residence. He was one of our oldest and most respected citizens.

Shin Skee, a Chinese peddler, was fined five dollars by the Recorder to-day for doing business without a license.

A score of misdemeanor cases were disposed of by fine this morning. Nothing of importance took place during the session of court.

I. M. Hill, who was appointed by the United States Court trustee of the Memphis and Selma railroad, has declined to act in that capacity.

The charming appearance of the setting sun, as it sank into the golden west, was admired by a large crowd of people on the bluff last evening.

Only one marriage among white people was reported at the County Court Clerk's office during the past week—Owen Sweeney and Miss Elizabeth S. Stone.

The west interior wall of the quad-rangle of court, in the court-house building, having commenced bulging out, workmen are engaged to-day in hog-chaining it.

Sol Coleman has received a new brand of imported cigars, which he sells cheaper than any house in town, and the cigars are excellent. See his card in another column.

The game law provides that it shall be unlawful to kill, capture or sell any bird from the 1st of March to the 1st of September in each year. This makes it an offense to sell mockingbirds.

A well-known attorney, in speaking of the Waddy Thompson case and straw bonds, gravely remarked: "Well, I've always found it the best plan to take things straight and not through a straw."

Colonel J. A. Signaigo, now sejourning for his health at Windsor, Canada, has written to Secretary Camp, of the Industrial Exposition, releasing all pecuniary claims that he had upon the Association.

It is rumored that several Memphians off on European tours find themselves embarrassed by the failure of Duncan, Sherman & Co., which firm had possession of their funds and upon whom they drew for money.

A social scandal, in which a medical man figured, was generally talked of last evening. The parties are said to have settled up the delicate imbroglio by a compromise of a pecuniary nature instead of by an appeal to deadly weapons.

A mulatto named Wm. Childress, a county convict, escaped from General Forrest's Big Creek plantation yesterday. A number of convicts are at work on Big Creek, awaiting the erection of the workhouse buildings on President's Island.

"Hop" Johnson, city editor of the Appeal, left for Cincinnati yesterday on board the steamer James D. Parker. He goes up to take soundings of the rivers Mississippi and Ohio, and report all he knows about overflows and water generally.

Some reformed inebriate announces to the drinking world that if any one will eat an orange every morning half an hour before breakfast, he will soon lose all taste for liquor. Should this test be made in Memphis, an orange trade would flourish.

A report reached the city last evening that on the Forrest plantation on Big Creek four negroes made a break for liberty yesterday, and that two of them were shot dead by the guards. One escaped and the fourth was recaptured. The result of the inquest has not as yet reached the city.

The news which reached the city last evening as to the paralytic stroke received by Andy Johnson caused no little speculation as to whom would be the prominent West Tennessee candidate for the office of Senator in the event that the attack of paralysis would prove fatal to Senator Johnson.

The Vicksburg Herald says cotton may lack for gatherers and corn may go unharvested, but there is a fair prospect that Mississippi will reap a fine crop of politics next fall. Between a crop and an election the African mind wabbles over the ragged edge of politics and lets the crop take care of itself.

The sacking and wrecking of a water-melon wagon by a lot of newsboys on Madison street, near Main, yesterday afternoon created a commotion on the street and gathered together a large crowd of spectators. The excitement was equal to that created on Wall street, New York, by the failure of Duncan, Sherman & Co.

The Sodality Dramatic Association repeated the Specter Bridegroom and The Benevol Boy, two very good farces, before a large and delighted audience last night at the St. Peter's Parochial schoolhouse, on Washington street. The entertainments by the association will be presented at intervals during the summer and fall months.

The Judge, Clerk, Attorney General and deputy sheriffs of the Criminal Court are completely worn out respond-ing to questions from citizens as to the Waddy Thompson case and jury. News-paper reporters have to shake their heads scores of times during the day and tell the little they know as to the prospective result of the trial.

A keg of beer is supposed to contain eight gallons; a mug of beer holds nearly a pint, which would give from sixty-four to seventy-four glasses of beer to a keg. In the leading saloons a beer keg is emptied every ten minutes for several hours during the day, as just now thousands of mugs and glasses are constantly being thrown under myriads of noses.

James A. Chastaine has been indicted in five cases, and his bail in four of them has been fixed by the Attorney General and the Judge of the Criminal Court at $8000. The bail on the other indictment was not fixed at the time, but it will be fixed at probably $2000, which will make the entire bond to be given by Chastaine, in order to get out of durance vile, amount to $10,000.

It is rumored on the streets that the Masonic Temple Association has to borrow money to pay the big salaries of several of its officers, who have nothing to do, as all work upon the temple has ceased for the present for want of funds.

This is a serious charge and needs some little explanation. People should not make money out of or speculate off of benevolent or charitable orders or institutions.

Billiards have become a necessity with hundreds of Memphians, to whom the game is both a pleasure as well as healthy exercise. Sid Cook's Peabody Billiard Hall is the coolest place in the city, as he has arranged a lot of revolving fans that create a little hurricane in the hall, if necessary. This makes the game a summer pastime, a thing unknown heretofore in Memphis. Go and see for yourself.

Since the attention of the authorities was called to the dangerous condition of the Madison street bridge over the Charleston railroad track, some one has fastened planks across each end of the bridge so as to prevent and obstruct travel. This has been done for several days, to the great annoyance and inconvenience of citizens. Let the bridge be repaired at once, and let the obstruction to trade and travel be removed.

The "prayer test" is being invoked in favor of a cessation of rain in many of our churches. The planters residing on the lowlands of the Mississippi will heartily join in the prayer, but many of the planters residing on the hills above the reach of overflow have not a sufficient amount of rain as yet, and their prayer will be for a continuance of those fruitful showers that have already improved their crops many thousands of dollars.

Some unknown person sent an anonymous note to the LEDGER yesterday, in which it was intimated that an attorney had been guilty of unprofessional conduct. Attorney General Wright and other parties received similar documents. The writing was the same as that which appeared in those anonymous notes received by the Sheriff, Chief of Police and Attorney General, stating that an effort would be made to secure the escape of Chastaine from the county jail. As a general rule anonymous correspondents are irresponsible and unworthy of notice; at least they are certainly unworthy of newspaper notice.

Every night the police bring into the station a number of negro women charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct or lewd behavior. These people, instead of being confined in the station-house for weeks for non-payment of fines, should be sent to the county work-house under charge of General Forrest.

On Wednesday next the General Council should make some arrangement to hire these prisoners out to work and save the city fifty cents a day for each prisoner. It costs about four hundred dollars per month to maintain the dignity of the chain gang—a waste of money and a useless piece of extravagance.

WHITE RIVER.

Captain Milt Harry's New White River Packet, the Ruth.

Captain Milt Harry starts out to-day with his new White river packet. The Ruth is a staunch steamer, a good carrier and has unsurpassed passenger ac-commodations. She is well suited for the trade. She has passenger accommo-dations for fifty people and a carrying capacity of 1200 bales of cotton. Capt. Harry purchased the Ruth with a view of accommodating the people on White river during low water, and being deter-mined to keep up the excellent trade he has built up through his indomitable energy and prompt attention to business has secured a sidewheel steamer to place in the Memphis and White river trade as soon as business opens out. The Ruth has been docked and put in thor-ough repair under his supervision, and now ranks as a first-class packet. The cabins have been furnished with new carpets, tables and chairs, and has also been repainted, presenting a fine appear-ance. Her state-rooms have also been furnished with new bedding, while the pantry and culinary departments have been furnished with the finest new ware ever used on a steamer.

Captain Harry has not only put his steamer in complete order and furnished her with all the modern improvements for the accommodation and interest of the shipping and traveling public o White river, but has also selected and placed on his boat a set of officers who are experienced and trustworthy steam-boatmen. The Ruth is well adapted for the trade and is fully capable to do the business. Captain Harry, appreciating the kindness shown him by the good peo-ple on White river and also there patron-age, delayed his boat here in order to put her in complete order. The Ruth, under the guidance of her worthy and popular officers, will not only prove a financial success, but keep up the reputation of Captain Harry and his officers. When the season opens out Captain Milt will have a fine sidewheeler in the trade. He is determined, as always heretofore, to accommodate the people and do their business, though he be the loser thereby.

The Ruth leaves the wharfboat this evening for all points on White river, carries the mail and pays strict attention to all way business. Captain Ed Postal, her chief purser, is a gentleman noted for integrity, fine business qualities and uniform kindness to all. Mr. Ed Crowell, his assistant, is not only a good account-ant, but a gentleman who has made friends of all with whom he has been in any manner associated and has always proved himself worthy of the respect and confidence of the business commu-nity.

Good Suggestions.

GIVE AWAY day at Coleman's.

The Waddy Thompson Jury.

In the event that the jury in the Waddy Thompson cases fail to agree, the defendant will be in a very unpleasant position. Two of the five indict-ments found by the Grand Jury against the defendant charge horse stealing, which, being a capital offense, is not a bailable one under the laws of Tennes-see; consequently the disagreement of the jury will compel the defendant to remain in the county jail until the next term of court, when the second trial of the cases would take place. Yesterday it was rumored, apparently on good authority, that the jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. This being the case, it is not probable that the jury can agree upon a verdict, as those favoring acquittal will hardly compro-mise by bringing in a verdict of guilty, and where so many jurors believe in the guilt of a prisoner, they are not apt to agree to a verdict of acquittal. The jury made no report in court yesterday, having remained locked up in their room during the day, except when they marched down Main street in double files on their way to meals. Numbers of people scanned their sphinx-like faces as they marched down the street, but the most profound physiognomist could see no other expression on those twelve faces save and except that which clearly indicated that they wanted dinner. As they marched back to the jury room their countenances indicated and beamed with satisfaction, showing that none of them were suffering from indi-gestation or other complaints.

Fresh Key West Cigars.

The Next Excursion.

Owing to the continued heavy rains which have rendered "Echo River" im-passable, the next and last excursion to the Mammoth Cave is deferred until Tuesday, August 10th, a week from next Tuesday.

READ Coleman's advertisement.

Person-1.

Mr. John F. Rogers, of Menken Bros., leaves for the East and Canada to-mor-row. It is whispered among the know-ing ones that John will not come back alive.

COLEMAN is getting very liberal.

Prospectus.

It is reported that an enterprise is on foot to start another afternoon paper here about the 1st of September to fill a vacuum. There is a magnificent opening for an under-taking for anybody that has $50,000 and is anxious to invest it. The experi-ment has been made here occasionally without quite that capital, but when the right man tries it he will succeed. There is room here for four or five more news-papers, and were that many at one time, but somehow the proprietors, as they grew rich, became careless about the honor, folded their little tents and re-tired. One thousand dollars a week in cash is about the amount required to run the LEDGER, but fifteen hundred would answer as well. There's millions in it, and any one who desires to make a fortune in the business, as we have done in the last ten years and invested in
